WARD FIVE VOTERS ARE MOVED AGAIN

Back to Bow Street for the Battle of the Ballots

Since Ward Five was established by the city charter it has been a case of move to one place, then the other for voting quarters.

In no less than a half dozen different places have the voters of the river front ward marked their ballots on election day and the ward committee have really done more in moving and hunting up a place to vote than they have otherwise.

The last moving day was strenuous and the ward chairman says that he will retire before the next order is issued to pack up and move.

Last week the big auto truck was needed to make the transfer of sliding booths, stuffed chairs and marble top tables, to the store of Henry Tucker on Bow street, where the battle will be fought out at the primaries and on election day. The members of the ward committee say that the chairman is the biggest and strongest man in the ward and therefore should be delighted to take charge of this job every time Charley Asay and his braves are evicted in the banner ward.

WILL HAVE EMINENT SPEAKER

Sunday at 2 p. m., in F. O. E. Hall, the local branch of Federazione Repubblicana Mazziniana Italiana will have a meeting which will be addressed by Signor Aristodillo R. Ambrosini, who will come from Boston for the purpose. After the address there will be a discussion, open to all.

IT IS NOW BENFIELD'S

Dissolution of the Firm of Cater & Benfield

Announcement is made today of the dissolution of the partnership of Cater and Benfield, dealers in groceries, meats and provisions.

Mr. William J. Cater retires from the business, which will be continued by Mr. Amon O. Benfield.

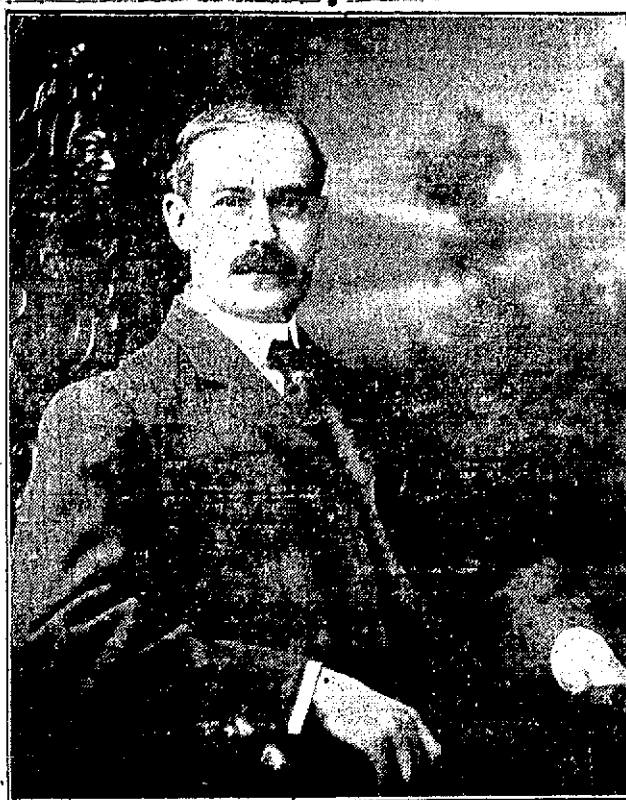

Both gentlemen have many friends who hope for their success. The Herald trusts that Mr. Benfield's business venture by himself will be a prosperous one and that Mr. Cater will find a good business opening to keep him in our city.

A SON BORN

At Malone, N. Y., Sept. 2—Born to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. McClary (nee Marie Pickett of this city) a son.

A telegram to Mrs. McClary's relatives announced the pleasant fact this afternoon.

JUST WHERE HE STANDS

HON. SHERMAN E. BURROUGHS,

Sherman E. Burroughs Tells Portsmouth Voters His Views --- 1500 People at Open Air Rally on Market Square.

Fifteen hundred people greeted Mr. Sherman E. Burroughs of Manchester, a republican candidate for the nomination for Congress in the first district at an open air rally on Market square on Thursday evening, and from the manner in which he was received, it would indicate that Mr. Burroughs would poll a big vote at the primaries on Tuesday of next week.

Mr. Burroughs spoke from an automobile, and his able and interesting talk was closely followed by the crowd, which was made up of a representative class of people, and not a few ladies, in fact at all times there was absolutely no interruption of any kind, other than the frequent bursts of applause.

The Portsmouth City band, M. J. Devine leader, gave a short concert before eight o'clock in front of City Hall, and rendered a selection following the speaking. Mr. Burroughs, with Mr. Harry E. Boynton, drove from the Rockingham hotel in his automobile, the route of the machine marked by a generous display of red fire.

Mr. Burroughs was introduced to the big audience by Mr. Boynton, who in a brief speech stated that he was proud to be able to introduce him to such a representative audience of Portsmouth citizens. Mr. Boynton went on to dwell on the importance of the primary law, and the great need of the voters coming out and giving the law a good trial at the same time to take an active part in the selection of the candidates.

Mr. Burroughs was especially well pleased with the size of the gathering, and stated so in a brief introduction, in which he also dwelt upon the fact that on Tuesday of next week, it would be the first time in the history of the state that the voters could select for themselves their candidates for the various offices of the state.

Mr. Burroughs said in part:

One of the claims made by Mr. Sulloway, for his election to Congress for the ninth term is, as I understand it, that his service in the House of Representatives is invaluable to the Portsmouth navy yard and we are lead to believe by the argument of his friend, Col. Bartlett that he is more responsible than any other man for keeping the yard open and that there is no other man in the district able to do for this yard so much as Mr. Sulloway has done and is now doing.

I have no disposition or desire to minimize the work of Mr. Sulloway in this or any other particular. I wish to give him full credit for every single thing he has done during his sixteen years service in Congress. It has been my understanding, however, (if I am wrong about this perhaps Mr. Sulloway will correct me), that other members of our delegation have had at least something to do with the upbuilding of the Portsmouth navy yard. I had always supposed that ex-Secretary of the navy and ex-Senator William E. Chandler had been a most influential person in the interest of this yard; and this interest has continued since his retirement from the senate. It was my understanding that Senator Gallinger who has long been a member of the naval committee in the senate has been most active and earnest in his efforts to build up and develop this station. I may have been misinformed about it, but it was my understanding that it was through the efforts of Senator Gallinger that the first battleship was ever ordered up to the navy yard. It has been my understanding that Senator Burnham was also been diligent and active whenever the interest of the yard was in question. It has been my understanding that Senator Hale of Maine, the chairman of the Naval Committee, has also had a little something to do for the development of the Portsmouth yard. Can it be possible that I have been misinformed about all of this? Is it indeed true that all of these other gentlemen have been mere onlookers and that Portsmouth is more deeply in

EXETER

Candidate Ellis at a Rally

Wedding of Mr. Stephens and Miss McNulty

Imposter Claimed to Be Student at the Academy

Exeter, Sept. 2.—Despite unfavorable weather a good audience gathered in the town hall Thursday evening at a rally in the interest of the candidacy of Bertram Ellis of Keene for the republican gubernatorial nomination. John Scammon presided, and on the platform were seated Arthur C. Fuller, George L. Stokell, Jr., Dana W. Baker, Col. R. N. Elwell and Stephen W. Perkins of Exeter. James P. Clare of Stratham, Capt. W. N. Jacques of Little Bear's Head, Ernest G. Cole of Hampton, Charles R. Pressey and John M. Goodrich of Atkinson. Mr. Ellis said he was in this gubernatorial contest on his own responsibility. He was not in it as a representative of or controlled by any corporation or partnership or individual. He claimed to be entirely independent, in keeping with his record in public life. He declared himself in favor of a tax commission which should help to distribute more evenly and justly the burdens of taxation, and placed himself squarely in favor of completing the task begun two years ago in the legislature looking towards such a commission. All legal orders of the railroad commission regarding the reduction of express rates. He is in favor of enforcing all illegal increases in freight rates be denounced and insisted that any freight rates illegally paid should be refunded to the shippers. He paid considerable attention to the need of a system of maintaining our state roads and licensing automobiles, foreign as well as domestic. He also discussed the conservation of natural resources by the state and the enactment of a compensation act rather than an employers' liability law. He pleaded for economy in state expenditures, and closed with an appeal for harmony within the party after Sept. 6. He said the watchwords should be not harmony or victory alone, but harmony and victory. Attorney General Eastman made a conciliatory speech in which he declared himself to be the original progressive republican of the state, and said that he was the first republican in the state to advocate the nomination of William H. Taft for the presidency. Both Mr. Scammon and the attorney general had a good word to say for the direct primary. There was plenty of red fire and good music accompanied the rally but the applause was much less hearty than at the Bass meeting a few days since.

The people of this town were fooled by a lad coming here from New Haven and pretending to be a student waiting for the opening of Phillips Exeter academy and giving the name of Gladstone, saying that he was a poor boy and intended to work his way through the famous fitting school. The story was a trump card with him for charitable people aided him in every manner, recommending boarding places and providing work for him. Finally getting suspicious the academy authorities sent to New Haven asking his reputation in that city and the wires flashed back the reply that his true name was different and that on the pages of the police records it was shown to be a bad light. Thus his end here was in sight. The police were notified and he told them that his father and mother were both dead, and he was ignorant of the place of his birth. He was ambitious, he said, and wanted to obtain an education. "I have worked hard on a farm in the west, and worked at most every kind of employment," he said. Whereupon he was asked to show his hands, which were soft as a woman's. "Why did you change your name?" was asked him. "I knew I could not get anywhere if I did not," he replied. At first he denied that the record on the New Haven police books was his, but finally broke down and acknowledged that the record was true. There were no charges against the lad, who appeared to be a Hebrew, but this he denied. His age was about seventeen years. The police allowed him to leave town. The lad had no home, and there was a question as to what should be done with him. "Why don't you put him into the army?" a lawyer asked him. "I don't want to," he replied.

"I want to become a lawyer."

The funeral of Miss Eliza J. Brown was held this afternoon at her residence on High street, conducted by Rev. H. P. Quimby, pastor of the Methodist church. She was an esteemed resident, and had lived here for many years, being born in 1847, the daughter of James Brown, a stone mason by trade. She is survived by two sisters, Amanda and Mary, both of this town, the former being a teacher here for a time.

An interesting spectacle Thursday afternoon was an exhibition of flowers at the old Gillman house on Front street, it being the product of children of the East Side Current Events club. Prizes are to be given for the best display, the judges being Miss Harriet Tilton, Miss Emma Folsom and Mrs. Wendall B. Folsom. There was a large display and many handsome varieties were shown.

A very pretty home wedding took place Thursday evening at 6.30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McNulty when their daughter Olive Dora was married to Harold David Stevens of Boston. The bride has been for six years a teacher in the Fletcher school of Cambridge, Mass., and is a graduate from Robinson Seminary with the class of 1902. Rev. William Woods of Lawrence, Mass., performed the ceremony. The attendants were J. Anne McNulty, as maid of honor, and Bessie V. McNulty, as bridesmaid. Walter A. McNulty was best man and Clarence G. Tyler and William McNulty served as ushers. The double ring service was used. The bride was attired in white crepe de chine and carried lilacs of the valley, her veil being caught with the same flowers. The maid of honor wore white lace over lavender and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. The groom's gift to his ushers and best man was a brooch of onyx pearls and to the bridesmaid coral pendants. The wedding march was played by Miss Helen Dore. F. T. Crummett catered, and there were many guests present from Boston, Cambridge, Waltham and Lawrence, Mass.

The selectmen have appointed Albert H. Lyle as lot clerk for the approaching primaries in the place of Ernest G. Templeton, who has been here the last election elected to the board of selectmen and thus had to resign.

AN ANTI-SPITTING MOVE.

Women War on Those Who Expectorate on Flushing Streets.

Anti-spitting! Never heard of it before? Well, it is a beneficial civic affliction that is prevalent in the town of Flushing, N. Y. This affliction (if the writer may call it such) was brought about by the Good Citizenship league, which is composed of the wealthiest women of the town.

A delegation headed by Mrs. Winifred Lay called on Borough President Drusser and urged him to support their war on the spitfers, a class obnoxious to any progressive town or city. The borough president notified them that he would do all in his power to assist them in their work and notified the health board and advised that each member of the league be empowered to make arrests of violators.

From now on those who go about the streets expectorating will be taken before a magistrate and permitted to contribute $2 each to the town's finances.

If other towns had cities whose citizens are wide awake and consider the health of themselves and fellow townspeople and the advancement of their respective communities would follow the example of these society women they would realize within a short time the benefits that can be derived from it.

Keeping the Sidewalks Clean.

Property and residence owners who have allowed the mud and dirt washed down on the sidewalks of their premises by the heavy rains to remain but better get out their hoes and shovels and "clean up" if they do not desire to be summoned to court. Warrants for such property owners in Kansas City, Mo., were recently issued by a city councillor on complaint of an inspector of the street repair department. If this splendid idea is carried on by other towns and cities it will tend toward making the whole country clean and beautiful.

Little Things That Count.

Little drops of water poured into the milk give the milkman's daughter lovely gowns of silk. Little grains of sugar mingled with the grocer's sand make the grocer's ass's ass well to beat the band. Little bowls of custard, humble though they seem, help enrich the fellow selling pure ice cream. Little rocks and boulders, little chunks of slate, make the coal man's fortune something fierce and great. Little ads. well written, printed nice and neat, give the joyful merchant homes on Easy street.—Walt Mason in Farm and Ranch Review.

PHYSICAL CULTURE AND COMEDY

Fine Acts Shown at Music Hall on Thursday and Saturday

The vaudeville at Music Hall last evening consisted of a physical culture act by Er Mey and Fay, which was of exceptional merit. Their skillful exhibition of hand balancing was really wonderful and they gave one of the best acts of the kind ever seen here combining strength and skill. These well trained athletes performed their feats of equilibrium with much ease and were certainly very clever. Mr. Fay was for three years physical director in the Young Men's Christian Association in Brooklyn and has been on the vaudeville stage nearly ten years.

A comparatively short time ago Mr. Er Mey was in delicate health, but attributes his present good muscular condition to physical culture. The difficult act does not cause uneasiness in the audience, as it is accomplished with such graceful strength as to make it appear effortless.

Mr. Elverson, the Hebrew comedian, made quite a hit with his funny sayings, and the pictures were all very interesting.

These fine artists will be seen at Music Hall again on Saturday.

PLANS OF ATLANTIC FLEET

First and Second Divisions Are at Hampton Roads

Washington, Sept. 2.—Rear Admiral Schroeder, commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet, has advised the navy department of the tentative schedule of the fleet's movements between the Southern drill grounds and Hampton Roads as follows:

The first and second divisions proceeded to Hampton Roads Sept. 1 about sunset to receive stores, ammunition, coal, etc. These divisions will return to the Southern drill grounds on the afternoon of Sept. 3.

The third and fourth divisions will go on Sept. 5 to Hampton Roads for the same purpose, returning on the afternoon of Sept. 7.

Prior to Sept. 13 any division commander may at his discretion visit Hampton Roads or send his ships singly to boro-sight, but no ship will enter Hampton Roads on Sunday. Ships going to Hampton Roads for the purpose of boro-sighting will remain no longer than is absolutely necessary.

The Yankton and Panther will leave Hampton Roads on alternate days at about 10.30 a. m. to deliver mail and passengers to the fleet and return the same afternoon. The Panther made the trip on Aug. 27.

COURTS LOSE ATTENDANTS

Many New York Policemen Bereft of Soft Jobs

RETURN TO PATROL DUTY

New Law Affects More Than Two Hundred Bluecoats, Many of Whom Have Forgotten What Patrol Duty Means—Court of Special Sessions Without Probation Officers—Night Courts Will Be Separate Hereafter

New York, Sept. 2.—More than 200 policemen, including nine lieutenants and eighteen sergeants, have been removed from soft jobs in the court of special sessions and sent back to police duty. Some of them did not know the way to the stations where they must serve the city, so long have they been away from patrol duty.

The judges of the court don't know just what to do. The new inferior courts law specifies that temporary assignments of policemen may be made to magistrate's courts, but no provision is made for special sessions, where there will be no police to guard prisoners.

The next meeting of the judges will not be held until Sept. 17, and in the meantime the judges will be compelled to get along as best they can without the policemen formerly assigned to the court. The court is also without probation officers, whose appointment is provided for in a similar manner under the new law governing the lower courts of the city.

The judges declare that they will appeal to the commissioner of charities to assign men from his department to look out for the prisoners, but the warden at the Tombs is just as positive that he will not release any of the prisoners unless the persons to whom they are entrusted can show some authority. Special officers will also be asked of the sheriff, and these, in addition to several subpoenaed servants, the judges are confident, will be capable of caring for the prisoners.

No decision has been reached regarding the appointment of probation officers under the law. It is the belief of the magistrates that the new law permits the appointment of these officers by the magistrates themselves, but the civil service commission declares the officers must be selected after competitive examinations.

Among the policemen detached from the courts was George H. Twine, who has been in the department for fifty years. He is 72 years old. Twine declares it is his intention to retire from duty unless he is permitted to continue as a court officer.

John Buckley, who has put in twenty-five years' service in police courts and who has eight service stripes, representing more than forty years' service, was transferred to the Morristown station. He has not yet made up his mind whether or not to will retire.

The night court, after a period of three years and one month, came to its last session as a tribunal for both men and women early yesterday. Separate courts for each sex came into existence last night.

THINK COURSE DANGEROUS

Aviators at Boston See Peril in Circling State House Dome

Boston, Sept. 2.—A number of aviators on looking over the course for the $10,000 prize from Boston flight to the state house declare that the state house end of the course is most dangerous. Grahame-White, the English aviator, was particularly outspoken in regard to it.

"The course ought to be changed as far as flying over the city is concerned," said he. "It is not only dangerous for the aviator, but it is just as dangerous for the citizen who is going about his daily task to have an accident happen while the machine is flying over the city."

The Wrights also regard the state house end of the course dangerous. Other aviators now on the flying field regard the lap to the light as the best part of the whole course and have expressed the wish that the entire race was over the water.

Cardinal Greeted by Ten Thousand People Upon Reaching Quebec

Quebec, Sept. 2.—Cardinal Vincent Vannutelli, envoy extraordinary of Pope Pius X to the twenty-fifth international Eucharistic congress, which will convene at Montreal on Sept. 6, for a session of five days, arrived at this port on the steamer Empress of Ireland.

Cardinal Logue, primate of Ireland, Father Vaughan, the English Jesuit, and many bishops and priests from France, England, Ireland, Scotland and Belgium traveled with the papal delegate.

Quebec gave the envoys a royal welcome. More than 10,000 persons assembled on the terrace of the Chateau Frontenac. French-Canadians who had journeyed from the interior towns and villages were especially enthusiastic and at times they interrupted the legate's brief address with cheers.

COUPLE REUNITED BY STRANGE CHANCE

Separated During Civil War by "Letters That Never Came"

Kenton, O., Sept. 2.—A quaint romance found its ending here in real life when Philip Carr was remarried to the wife he lost in the turmoil of the Civil war, nearly half a century ago. He is now enjoying with her his second honeymoon.

Separated by raiding guerrillas, who captured the federal mails with the result that letters from Carr to his young wife never reached her; divorced because of a believed desertion; each remarried, and each again widowed, they found the love of their youth still aflame upon an accidental meeting not long ago, and their new betrothal followed at once. Carr is now 74 years old and his wife 68.

Recently Carr returned to the scenes of his boyhood, and here he met "the girl he left behind him" in the dark days of '62. Explanations followed and the couple were reunited in wedlock.

BLAME LAID ON OFFICIALS

Mayor, Sheriff and Chief of Police Could Have Prevented Lynching

Newark, O., Sept. 2.—The Licking county grand jury places the responsibility for the lynching of "dry" Detective Carl Etherington on July 8 on the then mayor of Newark, sheriff of Licking county and chief of police of Newark, all of whom have since resigned or been deposed.

The report says that had these officials acted with reasonable diligence the riot and lynching could have been prevented. A total of fifty-eight indictments was returned by the grand jury in the twenty-seven days of its sitting, all in connection with the lynching. Of these twenty-five charge alleged rioters with murder in the first degree, twenty-one are accused of rioting, ten with assault and two with perjury.

Will Be Directly by Comptroller in the Future

REVIVAL OF AN OLD LAW

Will Inferentially Guarantee to Business Public a Healthy Condition of Banks Designated as Reserve Agents—Some Who May Be Found a Little Short in Reserves Will Be Given Time to Conform to Law

Washington, Sept. 2.—Comptroller of the Currency Murray signaled his return from vacation by pulling into practice a provision of the national banking act which has been inert for years. This is the clause providing specifically for the approval by the comptroller of the currency of any national bank in a reserve city selected as a reserve agent by a bank outside.

Such approval has always been granted theoretically by the comptroller, but as a matter of fact the requests of country banks for the approval of a reserve agent has gone to the desk of a subordinate in the office and the approval been granted without knowledge of the comptroller or any investigation of the standing of the bank.

Comptroller Murray believes this to be a dangerous practice and henceforth will permit no bank to be designated as a reserve agent until his bureau has assured itself of its complete reliability. The act of approval is important also as inferentially guaranteeing to the business public a healthy condition of banks selected as reserve agents. Under the Murray policy, such approval will be an official attestation that the banks so honored are in good condition. It will be recalled that at the time of the Walsh affair in Chicago, which is a central reserve city, the Walsh bank was acting as a reserve agent with the O. K. of the treasury department as such.

This new order probably will lead to a scrutiny of all banks acting as reserve agents for other banks. New York city, Chicago and St. Louis are central reserve cities and forty-six other cities, including Boston, are reserve cities.

Banks in reserve cities of course deposit in central reserve banks only, but the so-called country banks are permitted to deposit in cities of either class, hence the action of Murray will apply to reserve banks everywhere.

Every national bank in a reserve city, under the law, is required to keep a reserve in lawful money of at least 25 percent of the aggregate amount of the deposits and banks located elsewhere 15 percent in their own coffers, while banks in other reserve cities may deposit one-half of the required 25 percent with the reserve agents approved by the comptroller in the central reserve cities.

On June 30 the amount of actual reserves of all national banks was $301,000,000. Of this enormous sum, $223,000,000 was deposited by country banks with approved reserve agents. While this immense amount of money is only theoretically affected as a whole by the comptroller's determination and all perhaps as well placed as if his approval had been actual instead of nominal, the comptroller will now assume a genuine responsibility for the character of reserve agents which has not existed before.

It is understood that if as the result of examination reserve agents are found a little short in their own reserves, they will be given reasonable time in which to bring the fund up to the sum required by law. If action is not taken within thirty days, the law requires discipline. The general effect of the new policy will be, of course, to cause all reserve banks to maintain their own reserves at the legal standard.

UNCLE SAM MAY INTERVENE

Political Situation in Panama Has Become Decidedly Tangled

Panama, Sept. 2.—The political situation in this republic is grave. On account of certain irregularities in the appointment of electoral committees, it is claimed that the election of assemblymen recently may be null and void.

The American government, which, according to treaty, must see that constitutional order is maintained, therefore may intervene, and considering the contentious attitude of certain assemblymen it is believed to be impossible that American intervention may take place within the next month. The United States marines in the canal zone are ready for any emergency.

Italian Premier's Close Call

Rome, Sept. 2.—A shot was fired at an express train on board which Premier Luzzatti was a passenger.

The bullet broke a window of the carriage in which he was riding.

Princess Tumbles With Monoplane

Paris, Sept. 2.—Princess Dolgorouki, while trying to qualify for an aerial pilot's license at Chartres, fell with her monoplane, which was smashed. The princess was not hurt.

UPRISING IN PHILIPPINES

Former Governor of a Province at Head of Rebellious Force

Manila, Sept. 2.—An uprising against the government is reported in the province of Nueva Vizcaya. A constabulary force is hurrying to the scene and a battle is expected hourly.

The rebel movement is headed by Simeon Mandao, former governor of the province of Ilocos Norte, who has long been a fugitive from justice.

Mandao occupies Solano, a town of about 6000 inhabitants, northwest of the centre of Nueva Vizcaya and about five miles north of Bayambang. The telegraph wires north of Bayambang have been cut and it is impossible to learn the number of Mandao's followers. It is doubtful, however, if the rising is serious.

Mandao, while governor, subjected a prisoner to a "third degree" examination of such severity that the man died. The governor was convicted of homicide and sentenced to fourteen years' imprisonment.

He appealed from the verdict of the court and while the appeal was pending he jumped his bond and had been missing for several months. It was thought that he had escaped abroad, until an official dispatch announced that he had turned up at the head of a band of malcontents. Nueva Vizcaya is the central province of Luzon, and Bayambang is its capital.

A DEMOCRATIC BISHOP

Not Too Proud to Smoke His Black Clay Pipe in Public

Boston, Sept. 2.—With his usually tall silk hat fastened with an elastic band under his chin, Rt. Rev. Lord Archibald B. Campbell, in black frock coat and leggings, was a picturesque figure as he strolled the deck of the Cymric smoking a black clay pipe.

Despite his elevated ecclesiastical position and the fact that he is a member of the house of lords, the lord bishop, because of his democratic familiarity, was a favorite aboard the ship, and no one begrudged him his smoke.

Mr. Campbell is on his way to Nova Scotia, where he will attend the bi-centennial celebration of the establishment of the Protestant Episcopal church there. Immediately upon the docking of the Cymric he engaged passage on the Prince George for Nova Scotia.

MUST FIRST SECURE CONSENT OF VAHEY

Foss Cannot Otherwise Be Nominated For Governor

Boston, Sept. 2.—James H. Vahey broke silence yesterday afternoon in regard to Congressman Foss' speech last Saturday, in which the latter made it appear that he would be a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination. Vahey was asked what, if anything, he had to say in regard to that speech and Foss' attitude toward him in view of the allegation of Vahey's friends that Foss had promised him not to be a candidate against him. Vahey answered:

"Mr. Foss' attitude toward me, notwithstanding his speech on Saturday and the construction placed upon it by some people, is exactly the same as it always has been—namely, that he will not be a candidate against me, that he will not take the nomination unless it comes with practical unanimity, and that he knows that practical unanimity cannot be brought about except with my consent."

There are not a few Boston politicians who still profess to believe that Mayor Fitzgerald is a genuine candidate for the nomination.

BOARD'S AWARD ACCEPTED

New Haven Road Trolley Men Will Have Wages Increased

New Haven, Sept. 2.—The New Haven railroad has lost its fight to prevent granting an increase in salary to its trolley men in Connecticut. The railroad agreed for the first time in its history to accept arbitration as a method for settling the demands for wage increases in Connecticut and Massachusetts. The arbitrators in Massachusetts reported last month in favor of a substantial increase.

Yesterday the Connecticut arbitrators reported in favor of an increase of 8 percent in wages dating from June 1. The increase will cost the railroad $200,000 a year and includes $20,000 in back pay. The railroad company last night issued a statement accepting the award of the board of arbitration.

RESCUED FROM HOLY GHOSTERS

Sarah Joseph Starts on Her Way to Boston

WAS A SYRIAN CONVERT

Taken From the Kingdom Last July on Writ of Habeas Corpus Issued at Instance of Boston Clergyman, Who Declared That Girl Was Under Hypnotic Spell—Returned to Vessel of Her Own Accord

Yarmouth, N. S., Sept. 2.—Sarah Joseph, the Syrian girl who for seven years has been a member of "Elijah" Sandford's Holy Ghost and Us society, has been rescued by her brother from the shipwrecked party of Holy Ghosters on the barren shores of Mud Island off the Nova Scotia coast, and is on her way to Boston.

When the girl left them the Holy Ghosters became almost insane with rage. They heaped the vilest insults upon her, and shouted after her the dreadful "God's curse" of the Sandfordites.

Her rescue was sensational. As she left the bleak shores of the island, where those who were taken from the Kingdom had been housed in lobster huts, Elders Perry and Whitaker, the last named the husband of Mrs. Florence Whitaker, who herself was rescued in Portland in June, made every effort to change her decision.

Sarah Joseph was taken from the barkentine Kingdom in Boston harbor on July 10 of this year on a writ of habeas corpus. This writ was issued by Judge Sheldon to Rev. N. H. Harriman of Boston, who was formerly a member of the Holy Ghost and Us society. Harriman declared that the Joseph girl was under a hypnotic spell, and was being detained against her will aboard the Kingdom.

Before the judge she at first seemed dazed, and could not make coherent answers to the questions which were put to her. Finally she declared that she wished to return to the vessel.

Judge Sheldon was obliged to dismiss the writ, but Harriman declared that the girl was hypnotized, and either could not or did not make a stand for the freedom which she had previously declared that she wanted.

She is 23 years old, and has been under the control of the Holy Ghost and Us society since 1904.

Her escape is believed to be one of the closing chapters of Sandford's career. He is not with his flock, but is in hiding and he has shown that he dares not return to Maine and to Shiloh for fear of arrest and the service of civil suits for heavy damages. Any attempt to live up to their faith on the part of his followers will be combated by Nova Scotia authorities, and many now see the end of a remarkable religion and of the power of a remarkable man.

The Kingdom is in Yarmouth harbor, having been hauled off the treacherous rocks of Big Mud Island. The repairs on the barkentine will cost at least $1000 and where this amount will come from is a question.

NEAR FIVE MILLIONS

Gotham's Great Growth in Population During the Past Ten Years

Washington, Sept. 2.—Greater New York has a population of 4,766,883, under the thirteenth decennial census, according to figures issued last night by the director of the census. This makes New York the second largest city in the world, and as large as any two foreign cities, excepting London.

Concerning London, New York today is that city's greatest rival, and in gain of population gives reason to believe that it will yet wrest from England the honor of having the world's largest city.

While New York, according to the English census returns of 1909, is still 2,662,857 behind London in the race for the greatest city of the world, she is so far ahead of the other great cities of the globe that there is little likelihood of any of them catching her in many decades.

PEARL NECKLACE HELD

Mrs. Adriance Has $100,000 Worth of Jewelry Returned to Her

New York, Sept. 2.—Mrs. I. R. Adriance of Poughkeepsie simplified the smuggling charge against her by proving to the satisfaction of the customs authorities that an assortment of jewelry, roughly valued at $100,000, which was seized when she arrived here last Sunday, was not purchased abroad. It was accordingly released, as was a $3000 necklace, taken from her daughter, Marion.

The lot released does not include, however, the $6000 pearl necklace, which Mrs. Adriance had concealed in her hat.

Fight Film Pictures Barred

Holyoke, Mass., Sept. 2.—The Jeff-Johnson pictures will not be seen in this town, as was expected. The fight films were to have been exhibited here yesterday for the first time in the state, but City Marshal Lynch put his official ban on the matter and they yet remain in the glass.

WIFE SEEKS SEPARATION

Court Adopts Novel Plan in Hopes of Effecting Reconciliation

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 2.—Despite the fact that he owns three farms in Connecticut, one in New York state and a fifth on the line between New York and Connecticut, the wife of James Turner wants to be separated from him and told Judge Morschauser in the supreme court that he and she quarrelled all the time.

Judge Morschauser said that he thought the couple could be brought to live happily together and proceeded to put in legal form his conception of a plan.

Stating that the principle of homeopathy seemed to him to apply perfectly to the case in hand, he issued an injunction restraining Turner from speaking to his wife, going on her farm or in any other way molesting her for the term of one month.

"I think by that time," said he, "that Mr. and Mrs. Turner will make up their differences without any further assistance from the court."

SCHOOL MORALS DEFENDED

But High School Secret Societies Do Not Meet With Favor

Sagamore Beach, Mass., Sept. 2.—A defense of the American colleges and schools against the charge that the student bodies were irreligious and immoral, and a vigorous condemnation of secret societies in high schools were the features of the Sagamore Beach conference on the moral and religious training of the young.

Professor Amos R. Wells of Boston, editorial secretary of the United Society of Christian Endeavor and a writer on Sunday school topics, denounced secret societies in high schools. Wells said that out of 100 replies he had received from educators to the question: "Do you approve of secret societies in high schools?" all but five were emphatically in opposition.

The speaker argued that such societies impaired school discipline and were a factor in making high school education more expensive to the student. He also took the stand that these societies were liable to foster immorality.

YOUNG SOCIETY MAN TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

Honeymoon Has Tragic Ending in a Colorado Hotel

Manchester, N. H., Sept. 2.—Mystery surrounds the death of Fred W. Cheney, son of R. H. Cheney of this city, who shot himself in the head with a revolver in the presence of his bride while in a hotel in Grand Junction, Col. No reason can be assigned by relatives or friends for the act.

Cheney and his wife had just arrived in Grand Junction and had been at their hotel only a short time when Cheney, who was 23 years old, shot himself dead.

Mrs. Cheney, a bride of but a few months, fell fainting on the bed. Only $500 were found in Cheney's pockets, what was left, it is said, of $5000 the couple started west with.

Cheney was one of the best known young business and society men of this city. The marriage of Cheney and Miss May A. Morse, a woman several years his senior, was sudden, contracted outside the state. Miss Morse was employed in his father's office. The first intimation that the parents received of the wedding was in letters written by the couple saying that they were on their way to the west on their honeymoon.

ROOSEVELT A PROGRESSIVE

Defines His Political Status to Enthusiastic Kansas City People

Kansas City, Sept. 2.—The people of Missouri kept up with a vim the roar of enthusiastic welcome which is following Theodore Roosevelt everywhere in the west.

Crowds which blocked the streets of Kansas City cheered him wherever he made an appearance, and the three speeches he made here were received with shouts of approval.

The colonel was told that he was "insurgent through and through," in a song which was sung in his honor at a luncheon, but he said it would be better to call him a progressive.

Georgia Democrats Want Him Named For Presidency in 1912

Atlanta, Sept. 2.—The Democratic state convention nominated Hoke Smith for governor of Georgia. The platform is a practical reiteration of the one adopted when Smith was nominated in 1906.

BURROUGHS IN PORTSMOUTH

Thursday night's rally in Market square was a striking evidence of the interest taken in the campaign for the Republican nomination for representative to congress from this district.

Hon. Sherman E. Burroughs certainly made good with the throng of voters who listened to him on that occasion. That Mr. Burroughs possesses the brains, tact, industry and physical health necessary for efficient work in Congress is now known satisfactorily to the people of Portsmouth.

Whether he wins or not, this talented young Republican has given the district a much needed thorough waking up and has added to his own personal reputation at home and abroad.

BIRDSEYE VIEWS

This is the month of fairs and there will be several hundred, large and small, in New England. We want Portsmouth to have one next year.

San Francisco has raised $6,300,000 for the Panama canal opening celebration and world's fair, and New Orleans has gone them better and raised $6,000,000. Look out for a contest in the coming congress, to see which city shall have the honor.

The census figures give New York city a population of 4,766,583, making it the second city in the world, and larger than any two foreign cities outside of London. At the census of 1900 the population of the five states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, and Rhode Island was 4,682,607, or 83,276 fewer than the figures for New York city at this census. Mayor Gaynor's halliwick is surely considerable of a place.

An uprising against the government is reported in the province of Nueva Vizcaya, Luzon, Philippine islands. A constabulary force is hurrying to the scene and a battle is expected hourly. The rebel movement is headed by Simson Mandac, former governor of the province of Ilocos Norte, who has long been a fugitive from justice.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

What New Hampshire Needs
 New Hampshire is a small state, but among the foremost in good government. In every city and town are earnest men, whose vigilance no official failure or dereliction can escape, and whose rebuke, on the very infrequent discovery, is stern and emphatic. They are satisfied with existing conditions. Why malign a state in which as in very few others the voter has to the fullest degree his unfettered rights and privileges? Republicans may pardonably be proud of their long administration of its affairs. Why relinquish their trust? New Hampshire stands less in need of "reform" than of an old time Republican victory. From governor down voters should see that it results from the coming primary and election.—Exeter News-Letter.

Roosevelt and the Courts
 The speech of Mr. Roosevelt at Denver, in which he took occasion to criticize the supreme court of the United States for two of its decisions, cannot by any process of reasoning be construed as contempt of court. Mr. Roosevelt is not a party to any controversy now or previously pending before that tribunal. He is bound by no order of the justices and directly affected by no decree. He has exercised the right of free speech to take exception to two rulings by the court on questions of public importance, a right which is inherent in every American citizen and which is freely used both in public and private discourse.

At the same time it is in questionable taste for a man of such conspicuous prominence before the country to hold the highest judicial institution in the country up to criticism for two of its rulings, however out of agreement with his own views they may be. It is more necessary to preserve public respect for the judicial establishment than to proclaim individual differences with its rulings.

Disrespect for the court is easily bred by lead declarations of disagreement and dislike, especially by one who has a large personal following following and a wide influence. It is impossible to measure the harm that is done by such speeches. The creation of disrespect for the rulings of the highest court must necessarily react all along the social line to lessen the regard in which all the minor courts of the country are held by the people. It is the part of good citizenship to accept court decisions, to abide by them as long as they remain in force, to give full credit for honesty and integrity to the men responsible for their utterance.

Mr. Roosevelt might have engaged in a discussion of the merits of the two cases which he specified as climaxing in these decisions without assailing the court or detracting from its prestige. It is the right of every citizen to differ with the law, so long as he obeys the law.
 But Mr. Roosevelt, as contented himself with unqualified denials of justice of these decisions. In a characteristic sweeping manner he sets them aside as improper, and he does injury to his own name as a public man, as well as injury to the people, by weakening their confidence in the judicial processes by so doing. The court cannot act to defend itself. It cannot take cognizance of this episode, and it can only be hoped that the impropriety of this unqualified declaration by the former president will become manifest to the people and that no ill effects will result in a lessening of the influence of the courts in general in the maintenance of order and the enforcement of law.—Washington Star.

If Things Were Different

There are hundreds of men in this state just as well qualified to be governor as Robert P. Bass, and if he had been a comparatively poor man or unwilling to separate himself from his money he would never have been heard of as a possible candidate. It costs money to tramp up and down the state hiring halls and paying hotel bills and when men do this and talk about sacrificing themselves upon political altars for the good of the common wealth, you can gamble there is a nigger in the wood pile somewhere. Mr. Bass has a perfect right to run for governor, but let him do it on the ground that he wants the office, and not that he is a great reformer, stop calling the men "political rats" who helped to keep the state in the Republican column when it was a struggle to do so, and before he could vote, and more than all muzzle some of his over-zealous supporters who are saying nasty things and intimating that they bolt the ticket if Willis is the nominee, and he will be a stronger candidate, and get a more willing support at the polls if he happens to be nominated.—Concord Tribune.

Red Cheeks and open
 Air Schools
 BY
 THOMAS S. CARRINGTON, M. D.
 in the Survey

WHY should a community establish an outdoor school? The school children of today are the men and women of tomorrow. There is at present a strong movement to discover and prevent physical defects among them and one of the most insidious causes of deformities and ill health is tuberculosis in its many forms. Children seem more susceptible to it than adults. It often attacks their glands, bones and joints and, after doing more or less damage to the tender tissues, seemingly disappears until in early adult life, usually after a bad cold, the lungs are found to be infected. This accounts in no small degree for the high mortality of consumption between the ages of twenty and forty-five. It is held by some authorities that pulmonary tuberculosis in the adult is, in a majority of cases, the result of infection during childhood and that, the only way the disease can be suppressed is by improving the health and building up the strength of children.

Outdoor schools are an experiment of only two or three years' standing, but already they have shown that the children who attend them, although tuberculosis, are after a few weeks in the open air, in better physical condition than many children in the public schools. This is shown by their appearance, by a comparison of weights and by other tests. The children of the outdoor schools usually have a healthy color, while many school children appear pale and weak.

One cause of the anemic condition of school children is the warm, dry air of the school room, which lowers their vitality. Bad air kills interest in work and gives such diseases as grip, pneumonia and tuberculosis a chance to overcome the natural resistance of the body. Children have to spend three to six hours a day in the classroom, breathing air that may be laden with germs, for the ventilation of a school building is seldom good.

FORMER REPRESENTATIVE EDWARD BEWLEY

Communicates With the Police Commissioners and they Fail to Reply

88 Pleasant St.
 Portsmouth, N. H.
 Sept. 1, 1910.

Editor of the Herald:
 Enclosed find copy of a letter forwarded to the police commissioners Aug. 20. No reply has been received from them.

This matter being of especial interest to the people I take the liberty of asking you to publish the following and oblige.

Yours truly,

Edward Bewley.

(COPY)

88 Pleasant St.
 Portsmouth, N. H.
 August 30, 1910.

Board of Police Commissioners,
 Portsmouth, N. H.

Gentlemen:
 Your attention is called to the fact that Mr. Thomas Entwistle, City Marshal of Portsmouth, N. H., a police official serving under you is a candidate for the republican nomination for councillor, District No. 1, state of New Hampshire, in direct violation of the provisions of the Police Commission Bill enacted in 1895.

Sec. 30 of said bill states explicitly that the city marshal can not hold a state, county or municipal office during his continuance in office.

Enclosed you will find a copy of a letter that was mailed to Mr. Entwistle August 2nd, and from which no reply has been received, therefore, I am compelled to bring the matter to your attention, the attention of his superior officers, and who are directly responsible for his actions and the preservation of law and order in the city of Portsmouth, during his term of office.

I have no intention of elaborating on this subject, and in order to get right down to business, I respectfully submit to you the following questions for your consideration and answers:

1. Are you cognizant of the fact that Mr. Thomas Entwistle, City Marshal of Portsmouth, has been elected and has represented the 24th senatorial district of New Hampshire for three terms illegally?

2. Do you, severally, in your official capacities as police commissioners consider that the declared candidacy of Mr. Entwistle for the republican nomination of councillor, District No. 1, is legal, or does it violate the provisions of Sec. 30, Police Commission Bill, enacted in 1895?

3. Do you intend to call Mr. Entwistle's attention to Sec. 30 of said bill, and elucidate in a concise manner the violation of its provision pertaining to a police official becoming a candidate for political office?

Your replies to the above questions, if favorable, will prevent the necessity of appealing to the appointing and removing power of boards of police commissioners.

Anticipating an early reply to this communication and reserving the right to make public all correspondence on this subject, I remain

Yours truly,

Edward Bewley.

REV. BAKETEL IS PROMOTED

Methodist Year Book to be in His Charge

Rev. O. S. Baketel, of Manchester, formerly of Portsmouth, has been appointed by the governing authorities of the Methodist Episcopal church as editor of the Methodist Year Book and editor of the General Minutes, to succeed the late Stephen Van Rensselaer Ford who occupied the editorial chair for more than thirty years.

The importance of this position may be indicated by the fact that there were more than sixty applications for it. Mr. Baketel was chosen entirely without his knowledge, and his particular fitness for this kind of work is responsible for his election.

Dr. Baketel is a native of Ohio and was graduated from Mount Union college in 1871. He served in the East Ohio conference and in 1877 was transferred to the New Hampshire conference, and since that time has been an important factor in the councils of his church in New England. He served in the pastorate in Newfields, Manchester, Melburn, Mass., Greenland and Portsmouth until 1891, when he was appointed presiding elder of Manchester district. Upon the completion of his six years' service he was transferred to Concord district where he remained another six years.

In 1903 Dr. Baketel was appointed by Bishop Noy as New England field secretary of the Sunday school union and two years later he was made special secretary of Sunday schools of the Methodist Episcopal church, and he has occupied this position since that time. His work has taken him all over the country and his headquarters have been at 150 Fifth avenue, New York, but the doctor's residence has been kept at 730 Pine street, Manchester.

The official organ of the Methodist Brotherhood, "Methodist Men," in its September issue says: "Dr. Baketel is well equipped for the duties of his new office. He has for many years interested himself in work of an editorial nature and his contributions and correspondence to Zion's Herald were for many years a feature of that paper. His extensive travelling of the past four or five years in the interest of the Sunday school has brought him into close relations with the church at large and has given him a firsthand acquaintance with the conditions and problems peculiar to the church of each section of the country. He carries with him to his new responsibilities the love and esteem of his associates of Methodist Men and of the General Obituary of the Methodist Brotherhood, of which organization he is one of the founders."

In addition to the editorial work which Dr. Baketel will perform, his work in connection with the general minutes will make him the statistician of the entire Methodist church. Dr. Baketel assumes his new duties upon the completion of a trip through the west and south about Oct. 1.

I wonder who the best men are to send to Concord to fight for freeing toll bridges?
I wonder why the ocean boulevard has not been extended through New castle and to our city as originally planned? I wonder who can best further this project?
I wonder who can fight the hardest for what our city needs?
I wonder if Portsmouth has not as much influence as Keene in securing a school, as they did at the last session?
I wonder if a normal school on the almshouse site would not care for all the children of the Franklin and Bartlett schools and thus save money for the city?
I wonder if that would not advance the value of the remainder of the city property?
I wonder if the city council will consider such a proposition?
I wonder if the American Express Company has not made some changes in help in this city during the last thirty days with more to come?
I wonder if there is not some class to the K. H. S. club on the lawn tennis court?

I wonder if Sherman Burroughs didn't tell a few things about the navy yard and the harbor and what it needed in his speech of Thursday night?
I wonder if the horsemen from this city have not been enjoying themselves at the Readville races lately?
I wonder if Portsmouth ever saw so much campaign literature as is displayed by political candidates this year?
I wonder when the last of Henderson's Point will really be cleaned up?
I wonder if some members of the city council are not on blockade duty?

TO THE REPUBLICANS OF PORTSMOUTH

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 2.
Several months ago I announced myself as a candidate for the Republican nomination of Senator at the Primaries, to be held on Sept. 6, 1910. The Primary election is to be held in a manner similar to all elections, and in this repeated announcement of myself as a candidate I would have you believe that I am heartily in accord with every citizen who feels that there are many good things that can come to our city.
One of the most important is that of freeing the toll bridges. I understand that our neighboring state of Maine is ready and willing to take up this matter and should not have to wait long for New Hampshire to join with them in pushing a matter of this sort to such a stage that we can receive visitors without asking them to pay excessive toll charges. There are many matters of interest which should receive the strict attention of our delegation at Concord.
My past experience in your midst ought to be conclusive evidence that your interests are in safe and courageous hands.

Here is a suite of two rooms the children of the well to do may find a town address in the absence of their parents traveling in trying climates. The guests range from tots of a month or two up to veterans of eight or nine years, and each three have a day and night nursery to themselves. There are six of these suits, providing accommodation for some eighteen children. The babe of the bottle period can be put up at a cost of from $20 to $30 a week. -Detroit Free Press.
The "Big Dipper."
In astronomy the Big Dipper, so called, is in the constellation of Ursa Major, or the Great Bear. The stars forming the tail of the bear also form the handle of the dipper. The first star in the handle is Benetnasch, the second Mizar, the third Alkoth. The other four, which go to form the bowl of the dipper, are Megres, Phad, Merak and Duclie. The two last named are called "the pointers," because they point or guide the eye to the pole star, which is distant 29 degrees. The top bowl stars are 10 degrees and the bottom ones 8 degrees apart.

debited to Mr. Sulloway than to any of them for the improvement and developments made here?

This harbor here at Portsmouth is undoubtedly in many particulars one of the best harbors on the whole Atlantic coast. It has the greatest depth of water of any harbor on this coast, and it is the only harbor on the coast that the new dreadnought battleships can enter safely at any stage of the tide. The fact that the harbor is also free from ice in the severest winter weather is another strong point in its favor. Starting with these natural facilities there would seem to be no good reason why both the harbor and the yard should not be developed to the highest point of efficiency. That this has not been done is too apparent for comment.

It is not a fact that one of the pressing and immediate needs of the nation is more quay walls or dock facilities? With a mile or more water frontage, my understanding is that only a small section has been developed at all, that is, to which battleships can tie up. It is not a fact that there is ample area and great necessity of another and a larger dock to meet the future needs of the yard? Is there any good reason why this yard should not build some other vessels? The work done here now is chiefly repair work; this is important, but with the natural advantages of the yard, there would seem to be no good reason if properly developed it should not be able to build and take care of some of the big ships that we are now building and are going to build in the future. If that were done you would have employment for two or three thousand skilled laborers instead of now less than one thousand.

Has Mr. Sulloway's influence in behalf of the Portsmouth navy yard which Col. Bartlett emphasizes so strongly in his letter to me, been sufficient to obtain any of these much-needed improvements and development? Has his influence been sufficient to prevent unjust discrimination against this yard? For instance has he been able to prevent the reassignment to all the battleships, that made their home port here, to other yards?

Now earnestly and vigorously has he defended the Portsmouth navy yard when it has been attacked by members on the floor of the house of representatives? Is it not a fact that three or four years ago that a New England member of the naval committee in the house made a slanderous attack on this yard upon the floor of the house in which he stated among other things, that this yard was maintained for political purposes only and that it was so situated that a battleship could never come to the yard for lack of water. Was not Mr. Sulloway present in his seat when these statements were made and did he not know that they were untrue and slanderous? Why then, if he has always been such a earnest and constant friend of their Portsmouth navy yard, did not Mr. Sulloway rise in his place and answer this slanderous charge? Is it not a fact that within a year another Congressman made the statement in substance in the house that the Secretary of the Navy, did not dare order the "Mayflower," the President's yacht to this yard. Did not Mr. Sulloway allow this statement to go unchallenged and unanswered? And is it not a fact that because such slanderous statements have been made concerning this yard, and have been allowed to go unanswered, many of the prominent newspapers of the country have taken the matter up and even advocated abolishing the yard?

From the navy yard, Mr. Burroughs shifted to Speaker Cannon and he paid his respects to that gentleman in no uncertain manner, and promised the voters that if nominated and elected he would do everything in his power to prevent the re-election of Mr. Cannon as speaker of the House. Mr. Sulloway, he said, had always supported Mr. Cannon, and there was no reason to believe that he would do otherwise if elected this year; he had seen fit to eulogize the speaker.

Mr. Burroughs also spoke at some length on the White Mountain Reserve bill, and its importance to the state of New Hampshire. He said it had been held up for years and was now opposed by Speaker Cannon, and he questioned the sincerity of Mr. Sulloway, when he said that he was for, the bill, for a year ago, when there was no prospect of an election he called the bill all "moonshine," whereas now, with an election coming, and opposition to his being returned, he was in favor of the bill.

At the conclusion of the speech Mr. Burroughs held a short reception and there were many who crowded around to speak to him. As he left the crowd, headed by Major David Urich there were three rousing cheers for the next candidate for Congress.

Later in the evening Mr. Burroughs was the guest of the Warwick club for some time.

This evening Mr. Burroughs was

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS

Text of the First of Its Series of Quarterly Reports

The publication of the second of the quarterly reports of the Board of Public Works has aroused new interest in the previous one, the gist of which was given at the time of its issuance. The text of that one, for the quarter ending March 31, was as follows:

The Board organized Jan. 1, 1910. The Mayor is chairman ex-officio and Harry E. Boynton was elected clerk.

The office of Superintendent of Water Works was abolished and office of Superintendent and Engineer of Public Works Department has been created and Mr. J. E. Parlier was elected to that position.

Mr. Rieckle Ridge was elected Assistant Superintendent of Highway Division.

An inventory of all personal property turned over to this Board has been made and filed.

The amount of material was small, a large part of little value and the equipment in poor condition. Our next report will go into this subject more fully.

All bills contracted prior to Jan. 1, 1910 that have been presented have been paid.

The plans and records of every division are inadequate and incomplete there are only a few plans of any value.

In the Water Division we found a blue print record of mains laid, dated 1892, but extensions since that date have been recorded in part only.

We can find no plan of the Peverly line and papers relating to rights of way are not complete.

The service pipe record is not accurate and all services are not recorded.

As early as possible the following plans and records must be made:

1. Plans and abstracts of all real estate owned, also of all water rights and rights of way that have been acquired.

2. Plans of all mains and gate valves showing size and locations, and location and location of shut-off.

3. Records of all services showing location and location of shut-off.

One of the first matters that had the attention of the Board was the installation of a new accounting system.

Contract was made with the Library Bureau of Boston, Mass., and a sys-

NEWCASTLE NEWS

The Beauties of Autumn in the Island Town

Making Ready for the Militia Encampment

New Castle, Sept. 2.

This has been a week of many weathers, regular dog days, with the usual accompaniment of fog. There are still many summer folks here but next week will see some leaving for their city homes, or for a trip to the mountains. Although this is only the 2d of September, yet there is a perceptible suggestion of autumn in the clear, crisp air.

Mrs. Mabel Becker has returned from a very pleasant outing with relatives at Allon Bay.

Mr. Mason Trefethen, after a brief visit to his native town, has returned to his home in Exeter.

The field known as Gerry, now belonging to the army reservation, looks very attractive, dotted with its many khaki tents, this being the first preliminary steps in anticipation of the coming of the militia next week, which will live up the island town.

Captain Joshua K. Card, after a most enjoyable visit with relatives, and receiving numerous tingling handshakes and pleasant greetings from his many friends, returned to his home in Newburyport today.

Mr. Edward Baker, after a several weeks' sojourn with relatives, has returned to his duties in Boston.

Miss Marie Johnson, who has been the guest of Mrs. Evelyn S. White, has returned to her home in Cambridge.

Mr. James Blackman, who has been passing the summer at the Barber cottage, has returned to his home in Cambridge.

Mr. James Tilton of Haverhill is the guest of Frank Hill and family.

Mrs. Alvah Poore has been visiting Mrs. Nellie A. Card.

Mrs. Mary White is restricted to her home by illness.

Mrs. Etta C. Bickford of Portsmouth is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Becker.

Mrs. Fred Green, who has been summering in the island town, has returned to her home in Lynn.

Mrs. Angeline Randall has returned from a sojourn in Alton Bay.

Mr. Dana Whipple, who has been passing a two weeks' sojourn as the guest of Alfred O. Larkin, has returned to New York.

Mrs. Annie Green, who has been passing the summer at her cottage, has returned to her home in Lynn.

Buttercups nodded and said good-bye. Clover and daisy went off to other. The goldenrods in their gold-plume by the wayside, and in the sunny pastures. The beautiful asters in all their glory of varied tint and color make brilliant the gardens, the pastures gleam more gorgeously than ever and the scarlet salvia's graceful blossom glows amid the dark green of its foliage enhancing the beauty of the many gardens. The flower gardens of the grandmother variety seemingly were never so pretty as they have been this season, and have been the admiration of all the summer sojourners because as they say, in no other place are old-fashioned flowers cultivated in such lavish abundance, many of which are now at the zenith of beauty. There are a number of sadly neglected gardens which are in pathetic contrast. A few years ago, the land was a beautiful spot, but the gardeners have gone home where flowers never fade and the blighting touch of the Frost King can never come.

Speaking of FAIR TAXATION

Some Figures from the State Treasurer's Report Which Should Interest People Concerned in the development of New Hampshire.

Did you ever realize the amount of money the Boston & Maine Railroad pays toward the support of the State and the cities and towns of New Hampshire?

The figures are truly surprising.

The tax for 1909 amounted to $669,626.84.

The amount of local taxes paid to cities and towns, as per tax bills of this year, is $13,876.10, a total of $683,502.94.

The total state tax is $800,000.

Thus you may see that the Boston & Maine Railroad alone pays an amount nearly equal to the entire amount of money fixed by the legislature for the State tax of the entire State of New Hampshire.

These interesting figures are offered as reminder that the Little Harbor Chapel

Undenominational services will be held during July and August at 10.45 every Sunday morning.

Cars for Rye passing Little Harbor Road leave Market Square at 10.05 and 10.35. Cars pass Little Harbor Road returning from Rye at 11.50 and 12.20.

TATE THEIR POSITION

LIQUOR DEALERS' ASSOCIATION

SAY THAT THEY ARE NOT TAKING PART IN POLITICS.

To the Editor of the Herald:

This organization would not ask your assistance for a public statement if it was not that through misrepresentation a grave injustice has been done the candidates for public office of this state.

Our intention of keeping clear of politics, made at the time of organization has been rigidly maintained. Notwithstanding this application of our intention, there has been a carefully planned campaign to tag certain candidates as "liquor dealers' candidates, not honorably by direct accusation, but by method of elimination by asserting that other designated candidates were not "liquor dealers' candidates.

We wish to make this statement to the New Hampshire electorate, that when you cast your vote at the primaries, Sept. 6, you may support any candidate you wish and feel sure he is pledge, free as far as our interests are concerned. We believe, too, it is your duty to maintain that he be not pledged to other organizations.

We expect our earlier declarations will be met with doubt as to their sincerity, but will endeavor to establish a reputation for fair dealing with the public that will merit your respect.

We are not seeking a temporary advantage and wish no concession or restriction that is not fair, just and subject to any application of sound argument or common sense.

An attempt to influence your attitude by suggestion or inference, without sustaining such method with positive declaration, is an imposition. Demand positive statements from us and from our opponents. By so doing the past sensational methods of creating apprehension and resentment by false statements will disappear, and the action of the people, based on positive grounds, must soon eliminate all evils and solve the problems incidental to locate option central.

The desire to legislate, if possible, so that Intemperance will be reduced to the minimum, is equally as sincere with this association as with organizations having such action as its creed, as it is Intemperance that compromises the theory of licensed sale as well a prohibition.

New Hampshire has problems more serious to face than whether liquor shall be sold legally or distributed illegally. Ninety-five per cent. of the papers of the state openly oppose any return to the conditions which existed under Prohibition. This association will co-operate with other organizations in sifting the chaff from the wheat in proposed legislation, and will assist in the passage of such laws as will benefit society, and not advocate simply to harass the licensee. In this way the decks can be cleared for action on other subjects and the people relieved of needless discussion. Can a position be more fair?

Respectfully,
NEW HAMPSHIRE WHOLESALE AND RETAIL LIQUOR DEALERS' ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL CLAMBAKE

WARWICK CLUB HAVE OUTING AT RAND'S GROVE.

The annual clam bake and outing of the Warwick club was held on Thursday at Rand's grove and it was a great success despite the disagreeable weather. The members went down in cars and in automobiles, and while the clam bake was being made ready, running races and other sports were indulged in.

The clam bake was opened at 2.15 and it was one of the best the club has ever set down to. Robert Green was the bake master and everything was cooked to a turn. In the bake were clams, lobsters, chicken, green corn, eggs, etc., and all of the members thoroughly enjoyed it.

In the afternoon the real event was a shooting match between two teams. One was captured by Dr. J. H. Neal, and Dr. W. O. Jenkins. The Dr. Neal team were the better shots and won the match.

A baseball game furnished a lot of sport, and taken in all it was a fine outing.

The committee who had all of the arrangements in charge were Messrs. George B. Wallace, Robert H. Sugden and P. A. Gray.

TO MAKE ALTERATIONS

Col. John H. Bartlett, the owner of the Exchange building, is making extensive alterations in the rear of the building, to afford more room for some of the tenants. On one side near the City hall a brick building, two stories high will be erected as an entrance to the press room of the Chronicle, with an entrance to the court about the City hall. On the other side a two story building will be erected back to the court property.

The report of the Board of Public Works in another part of this paper is an interesting document, and well worth reading.

The New Supreme Court.

The death of Chief Justice Fuller creates the third vacancy on the bench of the supreme court within a few months. Should Justice Moody retire, as expected, the year 1911 may open with four new men in the highest court of the nation. In all probability Chief Justice Fuller's successor will not be one of the present members, and when the bench is complete the changes will amount to a practical reorganization.

Chief Justice Fuller was of a type of conservative which is rare today. His term of twenty-two years covered a period of extraordinary political changes, during which he stood at times quite alone for the strictest construction of the constitution. And no chief justice in our history has realized more deeply the impartial, impersonal integrity and dignity of the court in its aloofness from popular prejudice and passion. His passing is likely to mark a change in the court ideal, yet this should not impair its usefulness.

The establishment of a strong military post in Hawaii, in the interest of which Secretary Dickinson has just visited Honolulu, is dictated by the same reasons as the construction of a big naval dock at Pearl Harbor. The two works will happily supplement each other in a locality of unique strategic importance.

The late Chief Justice Fuller was sometimes called too conservative and again too radical. He was neither for nor against any class or section, but stood for justice under the constitution.

Ex-President Roosevelt says it costs him $5,000 a year to live up to his part. It is a heavy drain, but why doesn't he make a deal with the moving picture trust and get rich?

After all, the important point in calculations of congressional expenditure is the question of whether the country gets its money's worth.

All the Oyster Bay pilgrims go away smiling. The breadth of the colonel's interests and sympathies has been remarked before.

Count Zeppelin is as plucky in his airship ventures as Sir Thomas Lipton used to be with his yachting challenges.

It looks as if the polls next November would be altering places for independent voters.

Our Ideals and Prizefights.

Ex-President Roosevelt says that Europeans are disheartened because this country falls behind its ideals. In the main probably this refers to politics, but politics is only a game to give the people a chance to do their best. We have only claimed for our system of free government that it grants freedom in moral development. Yet this freedom has gone far astray when the national conscience seems to tolerate prizefighting, while it condemns bullfighting and the dueling field.

However, we have or have had an ideal of pug encounters far above the slugging match. The time was when American sportmen denounced English pugilists as sluggers. The ideal in this country then was scientific boxing, the manly art of self defense. Boxing is strenuous work, and if contests in the ring were made to turn on skill and endurance there would be enough in them to satisfy all true sporting men.

Honolulu has extended a warm official welcome to a baseball team from Japan which is to play a series of games with a picked Hawaiian nine. That's the sort of struggle for supremacy on the Pacific that the most radical American jingo can contemplate without even a tremor.

Notwithstanding his age and perhaps personal inclination, the late Chief Justice Fuller remained at his post through the years of agitation and perilous uncertainty. He died in harness.

The penalty of the treadmill might be a good cure for the speed maniac. Constant motion without getting anywhere would be a punishment to fit his crime.

The man wanted to "come back" right now is an arctic explorer with the real north pole instead of a heated controversy among his baggage.

July will have to stop lively in order to hand out as many varieties of weather as the late unlamented June gave us.

There seems to be more things that radium can do than there is radium to do them with.

Anyhow, the farmers haven't a bigger scare crop this year than the politicians.

Humor and Philosophy

SOME people use up more energy trying to keep out of a scrap than it would take to fight their way straight through the whole shooting match.

The kind of beauty that costs a lot of money comes high, but still people have to have it.

Something for nothing sounds alluring, but somebody else always sees it first and takes it.

The difference between idealists and matter of fact people is the latter have an idea occasionally.

It is hard to keep in the right path. Maybe that is the reason why it is the right path.

Some people are so exceedingly moral that they have no time to amount to anything else.

Nothing justifies selfishness except the necessity of looking out for oneself.

It is easy enough to make a hit if the target is big enough.

One of two things—it takes either courage or muscle to fight your way through the world.

Some people never change their minds, perhaps because their minds were obtained at bargain rates.

The Better Way.
Scatter kind words as you journey
Out on the highway of life.
Split a few smiles as you travel
Down at the doorway of strife.
Give the old grinch such a jolt
So to the woods it will take
Toss that cross grain disposition
Into the depths of the lake.

It is a matter of habit
Whether a smile or a frown
Lightens or muzzes your features,
Raises or pushes you down.
You may be happy or gloomy
Just as you wish or you will,
And on occasion to settle
Costs you no more in the bill.

What do you think of the party
Who on the highway you meet
Who with his vinegar features
Darkens one side of the street?
Would you prefer to be like him
Or is it better to be
Listed as Billy the Smiler,
Famed as a sheddler of glees?

Scatter kind words in the byways,
Radiate sunshine and cheer.
Do not let people downhearted
Work at the trade when you're near.
If your face trimmings are gloomy
Have them smoothed off with a file.
To the repair shop your features
Take if it hurts you to smile.

His Credentials.
Weary Willie—Did you ever hear of such extravagance?
Hungry Ike—What is that?
Willie—A king never wears the same suit of clothes twice.

Ike—I knowed you had royal blood in your veins, Willie.

Willie—How do you make that out?
Ike—When you get a suit of clothes you sleep in it till it's all worn to tatters.

Suspicious.

"Do you want a good home, my poor man?" asked the philanthropic splinter of the bobo.

"Er—er—is this a proposal, madam?" queried the bo.

Difficult.
"What are you going to do?"
"Try to make it up with Mame."

"What for?"
"Because I didn't come down last night."

"I suppose she won't want to see you round now."

"Not unless I can square myself."

All Put On.
"That man has a terrible secret."
"Mercy! What is it?"

"I don't know what it is. It wouldn't be his secret if I did."

"Then how do you know that he has one?"
"He always seems so supernaturally happy and good humored."

Just Deserts.
"I wish I had more time."
"You do?"

"Yes."
"Well, you deserve it and ought to do it."

Do what?
"Time."

Hard to Understand.
"What is soft water?"
"Rainwater."

"Rainwater?"
"Yes."

"But I always hear them speak of its raining hard."

No Bargain.
"We want to buy uncle something nice for his eightieth birthday."

"What would you suggest?"
"A seat in the United States senate."

PORTSMOUTH PEOPLE WILL SEE AIRSHIPS

There is much interest here in Portsmouth in the aviation meeting at Boston on Saturday.

This is only natural in view of the novelty of the attraction. New England has so far been reading about these airships. Now at last they are to be seen. Let us hope that their first appearance here will be entirely successful.

It should be understood that the meet is to be something more than an amusement enterprise. It is to be a public demonstration of the long-sought art of flying. This art, first mastered by the Wrights and now rapidly finding pupils and exponents in all parts of the world, is primarily intended to be useful. The records making from day to day are not solely spectacular performances similar in purpose to those of the trapeze men; they are rather new proofs of man's increasing mastery of the air through which he rivals the denizens of the air.

By and by the aeroplane will be used regularly for other enterprises besides the decoration of the multi-tude.

Nevertheless the managers of the Boston-Harvard meet are to be congratulated. Their energy and their courage are the prime factors in this great, this epoch-marking, undertaking.

They will draw a considerable number of spectators from Rockingham and York counties.

Nearly all the well known American flyers and many of those from Europe will participate, and there will be $50,000 in cash prizes.

NAVY YARD

New Guns for Sailors and Marines

Preparations are being made for the issue of the new Springfield rifles by the navy department to the sailors and marines. When the battleships visit their home yards the next time it is expected that the Krag-Jorgensen rifles will be replaced by the new Springfield. Last week while the fleet was at Newport, 2,500 of the Krag-Jorgensen rifles were taken off the battleships and turned over to the training station. It is planned to issue the new rifles to the machines as near as possible at about the same time that the sailors are equipped with them. In order to avoid keeping two kinds of ammunition on the same ship it will be necessary to equip the marines and the sailors with the same rifles.

Can They Come Back?

The hat department baseball artists say that they have not faded from the diamond and that it is the accounting department that have gone to the wall owing to phony management. If this is not true and the pen pushers in the accounting division really have any idea that they can still play ball, it's up to them to come out of the dream and get busy.

"TWO HIGHLAND LADS"

And Other Moving Pictures at Music Hall on Saturday

Two Highland laddies, one seven feet four; the other five feet fat, tired of farm work and every other kind of work for that matter, are sent to the mill with bags of grain on their shoulders. After trudging through fields they set their sacks on the ground and seat themselves on them and begin to discuss the white man's burdens and the general cosiness of labor. In the midst of their dialogue a "Tommy Atkinson" of the English army comes along, tells them that they are foolish to work so hard and advises them to join the ranks. Slugging their bags away, they beat a double quick to the recruiting station at which they arrive and after an examination they are accepted and placed in the awkward squad of the "Kilties." Their experiences make one of the splendid Vitagraph moving picture films to be shown at Music Hall on Saturday.

The other pictures there at the same time are to be:
"The Man Who Loured," Edison.
"Pete Had a Good Time," Pathe.
"More of Betty's Pranks," Pathe.
The same vaudeville which roved so attractive on Thursday, may also be seen on Saturday.

Portsmouth, Sept. 2, 1910.
Mr. Burroughs at the close of his address stated that he would be pleased to shake the hand of every listener present. In response to that invitation the undersigned had the following conversation with Mr. Burroughs in regard to labor organizations.

"We understand that you favor most of President Taft's policies; how do you hold with him, that labor organizations should be considered as trusts and thereby be made amenable to the injunction laws, the same as corporations and trusts, and so liable to be enjoined on the ground of restraint of trade?"
He answered: "I do not, and I do not believe labor organizations should be so classed or regarded."

The New Piano Question

This is a subject that sooner or later arises in almost every household. When it makes its appearance there is apt to be a discussion; also a whole lot of bombastic talk by salesman who know more about the price of their goods than they do about their quality. Whenever this subject comes up in your family, remember that it is far wiser to buy a known and really good piano at a fair price, than to buy an unknown make at any price. The good, reliable and well known pianos are to be found at my store. Forty five years of honorable dealing is your guarantee of safety if you trade here.
